MISSION STATEMENT

Saint Paul University, in Ottawa, is a Catholic and bilingual institution entrusted for more than a century and a half to the Congregation of the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Endowed with civil (1866) and pontifical (1889) charters, Saint Paul University has been federated with the University of Ottawa since 1965.

As a Catholic institution, Saint Paul University is dedicated primarily to an understanding and integration of Christian faith and life. It intends to pursue this task in a spirit of oecumenical openness and with a critical awareness of the forms of Christian life already existing or now emerging within modern cultures and societies.

As a bilingual institution, Saint Paul University wishes to contribute to the mutual understanding and enrichment of the English- and French-speaking communities, while remaining attentive to the cultural diversity of the country.

As a centre of higher learning, Saint Paul University intends, within the local, national and international academic community, to promote excellence in teaching, research, and professional formation. It endeavours as well to serve diverse Christian communities and socio-cultural organizations and, in collaboration with them, to try to meet the challenges presently confronting Church and society.

Thus, by participating in the evangelizing mission of Christ, Saint Paul University hopes to contribute creatively to the humanization of society.

GOALS

1. To promote, within a context of academic freedom and interdisciplinary exchange, a climate enhancing university activity which takes seriously contemporary developments in the sciences and other fields of knowledge.
2. To foster, in the light of faith and with full respect for each person, the integral development of members of the university community.
3. To assure the human and material resources necessary for a vigorous academic environment.
4. To generate the means necessary for the communication and exchange of knowledge and the results of scholarly research.
5. To establish and maintain relationships with appropriate ecclesial and social bodies.
6. To be a meeting place between the Church and the various contemporary cultures, religions and specialized fields of knowledge.
7. To assert and protect through appropriate means the bilingual character of the University.
8. To encourage critical awareness of present ethical concerns.
9. To create a greater sensitivity to current social justice issues.
10. To be attentive to the educational needs of the individuals and groups it is called upon to serve and to answer these needs as adequately as possible.
11. To develop relevant teaching and research programs.

A. PRESENTATION

The origin of Saint Paul University dates back to September 26, 1848, when “The College of Bytown” was founded by Bishop Joseph-Eugène Guigues, O.M.I., who in 1856 officially entrusted the College to the Oblates of Mary Immaculate.

In 1861 the College of Bytown was renamed “College of Ottawa” and, on August 1866, was granted university status by the Government of the Union of Canada. By letters of Leo XIII, dated February 5, 1889, the College of Ottawa was granted the pontifical charter. To meet the requirements of Pius XI’s Apostolic Constitution, Deus Scientiarum Dominus, on the reorganization of Catholic universities, the administration revised its pontifical charter which was subsequently approved by Rome on November 15, 1934. The civil charter, which had been rewritten, was approved on April 18, 1933 by the Ontario Provincial Legislature and the University was henceforth officially known as “Université d’Ottawa.”

In the years following World War II, the University progressed rapidly and by 1965, had established nine faculties and four schools. The year 1965 marked the end of one era and the beginning of another. On July 1st, through an Act of the Ontario Provincial Legislature and after laborious negotiations between the University and the Provincial Government, the institution heretofore designated as the University of Ottawa became Saint Paul University, nonetheless keeping its civil and canonical charters. At the same time the Provincial Government formed a new institution to be known as the University of Ottawa to which Saint Paul University conceded the majority of its holdings. The two Universities became a federated complex and, according to mutual agreement, were to distribute the Faculties between them.

In addition to conferring its own degrees, Saint Paul University reserves the right to present its candidates to the Senate of the University of Ottawa for the joint conferment (Saint Paul University — University of Ottawa) of its certificates, diplomas and civil degrees.

Both Universities consider themselves complementary institutions. Saint Paul University appoints eight members to the Board of Governors of the University of Ottawa. The Rector of Saint Paul University is a member of the Senate of the University of Ottawa, and the Faculties of Saint Paul University are also represented in the academic Senate of the University of Ottawa by their Dean, Secretary and a professor elected by his or her colleagues. Moreover, the two Universities benefit from a mutual exchange of professors and they mutually recognize their courses.

The University’s Guigues Hall houses the Central Administration, the Faculties of Theology, of Canon Law, of Human Sciences, of Philosophy, and Research Services of Saint Paul University. It also includes a Library and the Mediatheque, two auditoriums, lecture, workshop and seminar rooms, offices for professors and administrators, and lounges for student, and professors.

The Centre for Ministry Formation (including the University Seminary) and Novalis are an integral part of Saint Paul University, the first one offering integral formation to candidates for lay and ordained ministries and the latter, located in Laframboise Hall, being a Christian educational publisher.

The University publishes, among others, the following periodicals: Theoforum (Faculty of Theology), Studia canonica (Faculty of Canon Law), Mission (Faculty of Human Sciences), Living with Christ, Prions en Église, Celebrate!, Rassembleur (Novalis), Pastoral Sciences — Sciences pastorales (Faculty of Human Sciences), Logos (Sheptytsky Institute).

Saint Paul University with its long tradition, is fully aware of its special mission and possibilities. Its geographical location, its bilingual character, its federation with the University of Ottawa, its competent and diversified teaching staff, contribute to the quality of the academic training and the Christian culture which it endeavours to promote.

F. RESEARCH CENTRES

Research Centre in Religious History of Canada

Director: Pierre Hurtubise, O.M.I.

Executive Secretary: Jean-Marie Leblanc

The aim of this Centre founded in 1967 is to promote studies in Canadian Church history, by sponsoring research and organizing meetings of specialists in the field. For that purpose, the Centre prepares research tools such as bibliographies, indexes and various catalogues. It also collects historical documents, particularly of untapped sources accessible to few researchers. Since 1977, the Centre has been working on the microfilming and listing of Roman documents concerning Canadian Religious history. It is the official depository of the Conference of the Canadian Catholic Bishops and of the Canadian Religious Conference Archives.

Ethics Centre

Director : Noël Simard

Founded in 1989, the Ethics Centre is a university organization dedicated to promoting reflection and open dialogue on ethical issues experienced in society, particularly in the areas of Ethics in the Workplace, Ethics and the Media, Bioethics and Public Ethics. In accordance with this mission statement and with that of Saint Paul University, the Ethics Centre wants to promote, support, and ensure:

- an ethical dialogue at the international, national, and local levels; among researchers, decision-makers, and the general public; among researchers of various cultures, professions, and backgrounds;
- interdisciplinary research by bringing together practitioners and researchers from different backgrounds to work on research projects relating to contemporary ethical issues; by integrating students into research activities that contribute to the development of knowledge;

- formation of students, from universities as well as from target-groups; of members of the public who face ethical challenges in our contemporary world;
- a service to the community by the establishment of resource networks, consultations, and services to provide access to information and research in ethics.

Centre for Biblical Interpretation

Director: to be determined

Established in 1997, the Centre aims to advance research in the study of the Bible and the history of its interpretation. It is a meeting place for biblical scholars and all other persons interested in the study of the Bible. To realize this aim, the Centre intends:

- to promote biblical research, in collaboration with the academic units of Saint Paul University;
- to promote the publication of the results of this research, especially in collaboration with Novalis Publishing House;
- to contribute to the formation of young scholars and researchers by helping them to develop diverse skills (biblical languages, history of interpretation, etc.) and involving them in research projects;
- to make the results of this research available to a wider community.

In addition, the Centre organizes conferences and public seminars, and it sponsors the publication of books and papers in specialized periodicals.

Centre for Women and Christian Traditions

Director: Susan Roll

This research group studies issues that affect women and Christian traditions. The Centre has its mandate to:

- promote and secure Women's Studies and/or feminist research in the fields of biblical studies, history, pastoral studies, theology, ecumenical studies, spirituality and psychology;
- serve as a place where those interested in Women's Studies and/or feminist research are encouraged to work together and to be creative;
- provide training to students at the master and doctoral levels;
- stimulate and support leadership within various research projects and related activities;
- organize meetings of researchers involved in feminist and Women's Studies;
- relate research results through colloquia, books, periodicals, etc.

G. CENTRE FOR MINISTRY FORMATION

Director: Lorraine Ste-Marie

Associate Director for Ordained Ministries and Rector of Saint Paul University Seminary: Luc Tardif, O.M.I.

Associate Director for Lay Ministries: Jeannine Vermette, snjm

The Centre embraces a vision of pastoral leadership in which all ministers are called to co-responsibility and collaboration in service to the People of God. Combining the long-standing tradition of seminary formation in the Saint Paul University Seminary with innovative formation for those who seek to respond to their baptismal call to discipleship, the Centre for Ministry Formation welcomes women and men for formation for pastoral leadership. Integral formation is one of the defining concerns of the Centre. This includes particular attention to the human, spiritual, intellectual and pastoral aspects of formation, within a community that seeks to incarnate the values of church as communion. To provide an integral formation, the Centre collaborates with a variety of partners: the Faculties and Institutes of Saint Paul University for accredited academic and pastoral formation; experienced pastors and pastoral leaders, supervisors, spiritual directors and counsellors for human, faith and professional development. Various full-time and part-time profiles of formation are offered. For more information, please consult the calendar of the Centre for Ministry Formation or contact the Centre at 223 Main Street, Ottawa, ON K1S 1C4. Phone: (613) 236-1393, Ext. 2418.

H. SERVICES

Office of the Registrar

Registrar: Claudette Dubé-Socqué

Associate Registrar: Francine Forgues

Assistant Registrar: Carole Guay

Coordinator, Student Affairs: Josée Lajoie

Coordinator, Reception: Chantal Gagné

Coordinator, Pastoral Services: Daniel Renaud

The Office of the Registrar comes under the responsibility of the Rector of the University and provides the following services:

Information: Answering requests for information on academic programs and services; distributing application forms for admission, Saint Paul University bursaries and financial aid.

Admission: Sending the applications for admission; receiving all applications, with the documents required; forwarding the files, once completed, to the proper admissions committee; notifying each candidate of the decision of the admissions committees (approval or refusal).

Registration: Registering students at the beginning of each session including the summer session; sending all information required for funding to the University of Ottawa.

Attestation: Issuing official student transcripts, statement of studies, statement of degree conferred, certificates or diplomas; preparing and sending the ecclesiastical diplomas.

Statistics: Collecting statistical data and making statistical reports on students of Saint Paul University; regularly sending all information on students to the Office of the Registrar of the University of Ottawa; sending statistical information on courses and programs, professors and students to Statistics Canada.

Financial Aid: Cooperating with government financial aid offices and other bodies who guarantee loans or give grants to students. It also assists the Saint Paul University Bursary Committee in the granting of awards. For further information, refer to the Awards and Financial Assistance section.

Pastoral Services

Coordinator: Daniel Renaud

a) Pastoral Life

Pastoral Services are integrated into the academic mission and life of Saint Paul University as a significant and vibrant part of university life. The coordinator is involved in liturgical celebrations, spiritual direction, counselling, personal development workshops and outreach to other communities. An oecumenical multilingual approach is encouraged in a Roman Catholic setting. Activities that enhance the quality of life and Christian commitment within the community are also encouraged.

Regular services include daily Mass sponsored by the Roman Catholic community, and morning prayer sponsored by the Anglican community. As well as morning prayer, the Anglican community celebrates a weekly Eucharist, Lenten activity and a yearly retreat available to students. For those interested in participating in Byzantine Christian worship, the Metropolitan Andrey Sheptytsky Institute of Eastern Christian Studies celebrates daily Vespers as well as Divine Liturgy once a week. All students and faculty are invited to participate in all services and events of the chaplaincy. For more information, please consult the Coordinator.

b) Student Housing

The Saint Paul University Residence and Congress Centre can accommodate 187 students throughout the academic year. The residence is located on campus and will greet its first students in September 2005.

University Seminary: The University Seminary is primarily a house of priestly formation for seminarians from different dioceses who are studying at Saint Paul University. Rooms are available for the regular academic year and summer sessions for priests religious and laity. Personal arrangements must be made with the Director of the Seminary Residence, Laframboise Hall, 249 Main Street, Ottawa ON K1S 1C5, (613) 230-7330, Ext. 3013 or 2422.

Deschâtelets Residence: The Residence is owned and operated by the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate. In addition to being an Oblate community, room and board in the house are reserved for priests, religious men and women, and students who want to live in a religious house during their studies in Ottawa. Arrangements are made directly with the Administrator of Deschâtelets Residence, 175 Main Street, Ottawa ON K1S 1C3, (613) 237-0580.

Off-Campus Accommodation: Students may consult a listing of rooms, apartments and houses for rent off campus.

c) Information on Sexual Harassment: Saint Paul University wishes to provide for all its members, whether they are students, faculty or support staff, an environment that is conducive to study, research and work. Such an environment, while allowing personal, human and intellectual growth, requires an atmosphere of trust and respect. Sexual harassment is therefore considered unacceptable. The University has set out a harassment policy to deal with such events, should they occur. For more information, please contact Isabelle Décarie (idecarie@ustpaul.ca), Sexual Harassment Prevention Committee.

Jean-Léon Allie, O.M.I., Library

Chief Librarian: André Paris

Saint Paul University has the largest religious studies research library in Canada, with 450,000 volumes, 100,000 microforms, and 1,270 current periodicals in many different languages including French, English, German, Italian, Spanish, Latin, and representing many different traditions. The library has been developed according to the disciplines offered at the University: Theology, Canon Law, Pastoral Studies, History of the Church, Mission Studies and Interreligious Dialogue, Conflict Studies and Social Communications. The collection is particularly strong in religious history, theology, philosophy, and medieval studies.

The library is provided with MULTILIS, an integrated library system. The on-line catalogue can be consulted via the Internet.

Materials are arranged according to the Library of Congress classification system, with a modification for the large collection concerning the Catholic Church. Ample study space and private study rooms for doctoral students are available in the library. Introductory tours are given at the beginning of each session. Photocopying is permitted subject to copyright legislation. Elevators facilitate access within the building.

Besides its traditional reference services, the library offers access to a number of reference tools on CD-ROM and electronic databases: ALTA Religion Index, Catholic Periodical and Literature Index, PsycLIT, CETEDOC (Library of Christian Latin Texts), PHI (Packard Humanities Institute), CDWord Bible Library, Thesaurus Linguae Latinae, and Francis, among others. Besides access to these tools, the library offers assistance to users wishing to navigate on the Internet.

Because of its location, Saint Paul University provides students, faculty and researchers with easy access to other libraries in Ottawa: the National Library, the Library of Parliament, and others in the city, including the Carleton University Library and the University of Ottawa's general and specialized libraries.

Research Services

Director: Ghislaine Bourque

Grants Officer: Aloys Kayiranga

Scholarships Officer: Christine Brunet, Brian Monast

The Research Services provide administrative support to the research undertaken by professors, students and the University's specialized research centres. This support takes the following forms:

a) Research and Publishing Service

The main duties of this service are to provide information on and assistance with research facilities and available research and publishing grants offered by either the University or outside agencies, to assist professors with applications for these grants and, finally, to administer the University's own research and publishing grants.

b) Scholarships Office

This service provides information on scholarships both from Saint Paul University and outside granting organizations. Moreover, it provides assistance to students with their applications. Students who wish to be kept informed regularly regarding various sources of funds for students are invited to send their e-mail address to the Scholarships Office. Their address will be added to the Scholarships Office news list.

c) Other Services

The Assistanship Centre acts as a hub for the hiring of research assistants. Research Services personnel also follows the internal development of computerized systems, standardize the development of and access to internal data bases. They also serve as contacts with other organizations interested in research. Finally, they keep a bibliography of professors' publications and publish Expansion, an annual publication on research conducted at Saint Paul University.

Novalis

Director: Michael O'Hearn

Novalis is the pastoral publishing house of Saint Paul University. It publishes periodicals, books and resources rooted in the intellectual tradition of the University, but addressed to the general public.

Novalis was founded by Fr. André Guay in 1935. At the time it was known as the Catholic Centre of the University of Ottawa. The name Novalis, which comes from mediaeval Latin, was adopted in September 1969; it brings to mind a field newly ploughed and ready for seeding.

Novalis publishes in English and French, and works closely with foreign publishing houses on numerous projects. The principal mission of Novalis is to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ. The objective of Novalis is to express the Christian faith to contemporary culture in an understandable and accessible manner and in a spirit of ecumenical openness, while remaining faithful to the Scriptures and Tradition. As a publishing house, Novalis produces creative and affordable resources that help people to explore their religious heritage, to live their faith, to deepen their relationship with Christ, to pray, to take part actively in the liturgical and sacramental life of their Church, and to participate in the creation of a more just world. Novalis also helps people face life's daily challenges with resources that foster their personal and spiritual growth.

Novalis remains alert to the "signs of the times" in order to identify the ever-changing needs of the Christian community and to achieve its first goal: to create and publish materials that help people better understand and integrate their faith in their daily lives.

Novalis publishes and distributes periodicals, books, brochures and audiovisual resources touching on all aspects of life in the Christian community. It also creates materials using the newer communication technologies.

Novalis has a long history of publishing in the areas of liturgy, prayer, spirituality, sacramental practice, catechetics, religious education and personal growth. While the greater part of its production is for the general public, Novalis also publishes more specialized works in the area of theology and religious studies.

Graphic Design Studio

Director: Anne Chevalier

Novalis Graphic Design Studio provides technical assistance in producing Saint Paul University's official documents and periodicals. It is available to the entire University community, including students, requiring the production of printed materials such as brochures, catalogues, posters, publicity material, journals, periodicals, bulletins, press releases, and the like, in both black and white or full colour. The Studio can convert disks (PC-Mac), scan pictures and design graphs and artwork. It can also recommend word processing services for theses and major papers.

Bookstore

Manager: Gaétane Gauthier-Cameron

The University Bookstore plays a double role in the service to the community of Saint Paul University: that of selling books, stationery, cards and stamps in the store and also providing students with the volumes required for their courses. In addition, special orders are taken for books not usually carried in the bookstore. It would be appropriate for each full-time student to plan a yearly budget of some $450 to $650 for the purchase of books required for courses.

Archives

Person in charge: Roland Leclaire, O.M.I.

Under the responsibility of the Secretary General, documents concerning the history of the University of Ottawa until 1965, and of Saint Paul University since then, are kept and classified at the archives of Saint Paul University. A catalogue makes the documents readily accessible. The Archives are located at and administered by the Deschâtelets Archives (175 Main Street, Ottawa ON K1S 1C3. Telephone: (613) 237-0580). Appointments for consultation of archival materials should be made with the the person in charge.

Centre for Counselling and Pastoral Services

The Centre for Counselling and Pastoral Services is a training unit affiliated with the Faculty of Human Sciences of Saint Paul University. The Centre opened its doors in 1974. Students complete their practicum within the Master of Arts Program in Pastoral Studies. The Centre fulfills three functions: it provides pastoral counselling services (individual and marital) both in French and in English in the Ottawa-Gatineau area; it also provides training to students in the Pastoral Studies Graduate Program; and it promotes research in pastoral counselling. For more information please contact Natalie Milard, Assistant Director at (613) 236-1393 Ext. 2243 or by e-mail at nmilard@ustpaul.ca

Employment Centre

The University offers career counselling to both students and members of the general public. Bulletin boards are accessible whenever Guigues Hall is open, while other services, including assistance with resumé preparation, are available on an appointment basis. For more information, please contact the Centre at (613) 236-1393 Ext. 2412.

I. ASSOCIATIONS

Saint Paul University Students' Association (SPUSA)

Saint Paul University Students' Association (SPUSA) plays an important role in student affairs, serving the student population in myriad capacities. SPUSA acts as a coordinating body for student activities; serves as a representational body between students, the administration, and other university organizations; functions as a mediator for students with disputes; contributes toward social, academic and charitable activities; and identifies needs within the student community.

SPUSA is governed by a five-member executive council consisting of a president, two vice-presidents (external and internal), a treasurer and a secretary. As well, students contribute to the overall health of the University by participating in the Senate, faculty councils, and departmental committees. All of these are elected by the student body in the winter and fall terms, respectively.

Alumni Association of Saint Paul University (AASPU)

President: Angela Davis, , M.A.(Past. Group Work) '92

Director of Alumni and Development: Daniel G. Clapin, ACFRE

Our Mandate

The mission of the AASPU is to support the advancement of Saint Paul University by encouraging its members to provide leadership and direction within the community and promoting solidarity with its members throughout the world.

Goals and Objectives of the Association

1. To unite alumni and alumnae of Saint Paul University and of the ecclesiastical faculties of the University of Ottawa (prior to 1965); to strengthen the bond between them and their Alma Mater;
2. to support and advance the interests of the Association's members;
3. to promote the interests of Saint Paul University;
4. to encourage the alumni and alumnae's continued participation in the activities of the University and to contribute to the advancement of higher education within the University and in the community at large;
5. to foster a spirit of faith, fellowship and cooperation among its members;
6. to undertake all activities appropriate to attaining the Association's objectives.

Statement approved by the General Assembly of AASPU on September 21, 2001.

The Alumni & Development Office is located at Saint Paul University, 223 Main Street, Ottawa, ON K1S 1C4. Tel: (613) 236-1393, Ext. 2240. Fax (613) 782-3033.

Professors' Association of Saint Paul University (PASPU)

President: Raymond Laprée

The mandate of the Association is to collectively represent the members of the teaching staff in front of the administration of the University, in particular by its presence to the Joint Consultative Committee Administration - Saint Paul University Professors' Association elected to treat between the parties of any business relating to the professors' employment condition. The Association also promotes the conditions of professional excellence for the professors, such as high quality of teaching and academic freedom. It delegates members to the various university committees which require the participation of the professors. The Association represents the professors to external authorities, in particular the Canadian Association of University (CAUT). The Association holds a local charter which guides its official relations with all members; its general annual assembly is held in October of each year.

Association of Professors – Faculty of Theology (APFTSPU)

The Association has for its overall purpose a professional and social interchange among members of the Faculty of Theology. The Association therefore acts as a forum for discussion on topics pertaining to theological and pastoral questions, research by Faculty members, and university life.

Saint Paul University is a member of the following associations:

Categories of Students

According to time given to studies

Full-time students are those whose prime occupation is full-time attendance (registered for 12 credits or more) at Saint Paul University.

Part-time students are those who are registered for less than 10 credits at the undergraduate level per session, or for a maximum of two half-courses at the graduate level per session.

According to qualifications

Regular students are those who are registered towards a degree or certificate.

Special students are those who are registered to courses for credits, but who are not candidates for a degree or certificate at Saint Paul University, and are not bound by the special requirements of a program. However, they must submit to the regulations concerning the courses: attendance, written assignments, examinations and pass mark.

Auditors are those who are registered for informational instruction only. They are not permitted to write examinations or submit work for evaluation. They are only entitled to an attestation of attendance.

Admission and Registration

Admission Requirements

The conditions for admission stated in this calendar apply, unless otherwise indicated, to regular students. For special students, and especially auditors, some other kind of preparation may be accepted, provided, in each case, the applicant is considered, by the appropriate Admissions Committee, to be able to succeed in the courses he wants to follow, and provided the candidate accepts to comply with the regulations concerning special students and auditors.

Application for Admission

An application for admission must be submitted by:

- any candidate who wishes to register at the University for the first time:
  - as a part-time or full-time student in a program leading to a degree or diploma;
  - for any courses with credits, whether credits are to be recognized or not;
- any student who registers for a new degree.

The official form may be obtained from the Office of the Registrar of Saint Paul University or on-line at the following address: <http://www.ustpaul.ca>. The following items must be sent along with the completed application form:

- 1) a $35 (Undergraduate) or $60 (Graduate) admission fee; non-refundable;
- 2) a complete and official transcript forwarded by the Registrar of each institution attended in the past;
- 3) any other document required by the program.

Students are asked to assemble their admission dossier themselves including, if possible, previous transcripts and letters of recommendation (under sealed envelopes, signed across the flap).

In the case of special students and auditors, the transcripts may not be required if the appropriate admissions committee has in some other way all the information it needs to evaluate the application.

The admissions committee of the faculty concerned will consider all applications in the order in which they were received. Prospective candidates will be notified of its decision. The above-mentioned fee is not refundable in case of refusal. All documents submitted for evaluation will be considered the property of the University.

Registration

At the beginning of each academic session, students must register in person, according to time and place specified by the University. Registration is mandatory for all students attending courses at the University. Students must have paid the required fees on the due date, respecting the deadlines set out in the sessional dates calendar.

Except otherwise stated, part-time students may register by mail.

Maintaining Registration

All candidates to a Ph.D. degree who have completed their sessions of residence as full-time students, and who continue to work on their dissertation, must renew their registration at the beginning of each session, and pay the tuition fees determined by the Council of Administration. Students may request and obtain from their academic unit a leave of absence for a given session. During this session, they do not have access to the University's services, nor to the advice of their Research Director or thesis supervisor.

Registration Modification

Course amendments or modification of student status will not be authorized after the deadlines published in the sessional dates calendar.

Cancellation of Registration

Students who decide not to take courses for which they are already registered, must submit to their academic unit, duly signed, the modification/cancellation of registration form as soon as possible.

Exchange of Services

Students who are registered in one of the faculties of Saint Paul University may take courses in another faculty of Saint Paul University or of the University of Ottawa under the following conditions:

- i) students must obtain an authorization from their faculty;
- ii) students must be accepted by the faculty offering the course(s);
- iii) students must register for the course they wish to attend.

Under the same terms, students registered in a faculty of the University of Ottawa may attend courses at Saint Paul University

K. FEES

General Information

Students must pay their fees personally at the prescribed time. Fees may be paid in advance by mail (after students have received their invoice) which speeds up the procedures or by using direct payment (banking services by telephone or by Internet). Late payment incurs a $5/day penalty and prime rate interest plus 2%.

Regular Academic Year (September to April)

In September, full-time students must pay at least the tuition fees of the fall session, plus all general fees. The winter session fees are payable on the date published in the sessional dates calendar. Part-time students must pay, at the beginning of each session, the full amount of tuition fees for all the courses for which they register.

Summer Session (May to August)

Each regular student, special student or auditor must pay in full the tuition fees at the time of registration.

Unpaid Fees

If students, without due authorization, do not pay their fees within the prescribed time, they must withdraw from the program or the courses for which they are enrolled.

As long as students have not paid all their dues to the University, they cannot, unless authorized in writing by the Vice-Rector (Administration),

- obtain any official or non-official transcript of their marks;
- be allowed to take courses other than those in which they are rightfully registered for the current year or session, as indicated on their invoice;
- be allowed to submit another application for admission to Saint Paul University;
- receive a degree, certificate or diploma of the program for which the fees have not been fully paid.

Exchange of Services between Saint Paul University and the University of Ottawa

Undergraduate students registered full-time at Saint Paul University may, if duly authorized, take at the University of Ottawa, without additional fees, courses considered part of their approved program.

The same regulation applies to students of the University of Ottawa taking courses at Saint Paul University.

Within Saint Paul University

Undergraduate students registered full-time in a faculty of Saint Paul University may, if duly authorized, take at another faculty, without additional fees, courses considered part of their approved program, and/or courses in addition to their program. Students registered part-time in a faculty of Saint Paul University may, if duly authorized, take courses at another faculty, but must pay the regular tuition fees for these courses.

Refunds

Notice of Departure

Students who withdraw from the University must immediately advise his or her academic advisor in writing in order to receive total or partial refund of tuition fees. It is the student's responsibility to make sure that its Faculty is immediately advised of his or her departure.

Administrative Fees

Requests for reimbursement entails an administrative fee of $25.

Conditions of Reimbursement

- General fees are not reimbursed. As indicated above, the student who withdraws from Saint Paul University is entitled to a refund of their tuition fees, less the administrative fee of $25, according to the sessional dates calendar deadlines.
- For any reimbursement due to a change in registration or withdrawal from the University, administrative fees will be withheld.
- These fees will not be withheld if the credit is transferred for payment of courses in a subsequent session. For this reason, refunds are made only on request by the student.
- Unrefundable tuition fees, if paid by full-time or part-time students, cannot be transferred. Thus, students cannot have them applied:
  - to their own account for future sessions;
  - to another student's account.

The Council of Administration reserves the right to modify without notice the University fees and the regulations governing refund of fees.

AWARDS AND FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Overview

Three University offices share the responsibility of scholarships and financial aid for Saint Paul University students at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Students who are interested in the federal or provincial loans and bursaries programs can contact Student Services [see 'A' below]. Those who are interested in Saint Paul University awards or who wish to apply for external scholarships should contact the Research Services' Scholarships Office ['B' & 'C' below]. Finally, students who wish to participate in the Ontario Work-Study program can contact the Vice-Rector's Office ['D' below].

A. GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE

Saint Paul University is recognized as an eligible institution for loans and bursaries under provincial and federal student assistance programs. It is also recognized by American agencies.

Student Services keep students apprised and advise them on financial aid. They cooperate with governments and other bodies who guarantee loans or give grants to students attending Saint Paul University. For information and application forms, students should contact the Student Services office (Room 150, Guigues Hall. Tel.: (613) 236-1393, Ext. 2295. E-mail: studentservices@ustpaul.ca).

B. SAINT PAUL UNIVERSITY AWARDS

Saint Paul University offers several awards programs. Admission scholarships are for newly enrolled students with high cumulative averages. As well, at the end of the academic year, Saint Paul University offers a number of excellence scholarships recognizing students' academic excellence. The University also provides numerous awards based primarily on financial need and for which students can apply at the beginning of each academic year. Finally, other scholarships or bursaries are granted to Saint Paul University students through various other processes. These four categories are described in more detail below. For additional information on scholarships, please contact the Scholarships Office (Room 150-A, Guigues Hall. Tel.: (613) 236-1393, Ext. 2325. E-mail: scholarships@ustpaul.ca).

1. Admission Scholarships

Saint Paul University has established automatic admission scholarships for Canadian citizens residing in Ontario enrolling for the first time and enrolling full-time for two consecutive sessions in one of the University's programs. The value of these scholarships, ranging from $750 to $2,500 at the undergraduate level, is based on the admission average. The minimum average for eligibility is 75% for undergraduates. Students with an A- cumulative average and newly admitted in a graduate program will be awarded a $3,500 scholarship. Other admission scholarships are awarded, according to the availability of funds, to students who meet the academic achievement criteria of these admission awards but not their residency or citizenship requirements. Students or candidate students should see the Faculties for additional details regarding the Automatic Admission Scholarships Program.

2. Academic Excellence Scholarships and Distinctions

At the Year-end ceremony, the University confers the Gold and Silver Governor General's Academic Medals. The Gold Medal is awarded to the student who achieves the highest academic standing at the graduate level. The silver medal is awarded to the undergraduate student who achieves the highest academic standing upon graduation from a bachelor degree program.

Awarded as well at the Year-end ceremony, Saint Paul University academic excellence scholarships – see list below – are granted to students who have shown academic excellence and good potential for graduate studies and who have made positive contributions to the life of the University and of society at large. As these scholarships ($1,000) are intended as incentives for the renewal of registration, they are applied to cover tuition fees for the coming year. As is the case for the Governor General's Academic Medals, Saint Paul University scholarships are awarded by a committee upon reception of recommended candidacies from the academic units.

Saint Paul University Excellence Scholarships

Number: 8

Saint Paul University Students' Association Scholarship
University Alumni Association Scholarship

In addition, one excellence scholarship, each of a $1,000 as well, is awarded on the same occasion by each of Saint Paul University's research centres to students pursuing studies related to the centres' respective field of interest:

Women's Studies and/or Feminist Research

Ethics

Religious history of Canada

3. General Bursaries

All general bursaries are for full-time students registered at Saint Paul University and are primarily applied to their tuition fees. Students need to fill out only one form in order to be considered for all of the following bursaries. Academic success and financial need are criteria common to the majority of these awards, which are offered regardless of discipline, unless otherwise specified.

Deadlines for applications are May 31 and September 30 each year. Application forms are found at the Scholarships Office.

C. EXTERNAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Research Services, through the Scholarships Office, assist Saint Paul University students who wish to apply for scholarships and awards administered by granting bodies outside the University. Research Services have a list of scholarships available to Saint Paul University students. Often, applications must be submitted six months to one year before the award is applicable and academic excellence is an important selection criterion for scholarships. However, some granting agencies may apply additional or other criteria. For additional information, students should contact the Scholarships Office (scholarships@ustpaul.ca).

D. WORK-STUDY PROGRAM

Saint Paul University offers students a variety of part-time employment opportunities under its Work-Study Program for students who are seeking employment on campus. Student contracts are up to 10 hours per week, and up to 125 hours per semester. Information on the Work-Study Program is made available to students at the beginning of each semester and can be obtained at any time from the Office of the Vice-Rector, Administration (Room 255, Guigues Hall. Tel. (613) 236-1393, Ext. 2213. E-mail: dboudreault@ustpaul.ca

III. FACULTY OF PHILOSOPHY

The activities of the Faculty of Philosophy at Saint Paul University proceed from an understanding of philosophy as a human practice that aims at deploying human excellence (ethics) as well as developing the human community (politics). Programs offered under the auspices of the Faculty of Philosophy are influenced by a holistic understanding of what constitutes education. For in addition to being a human science, philosophy is the art of living humanely that is acquired through the integration of the three dimensions that govern human existence: thought, emotion, and body. Philosophy is about a fully-deployed human existence and ultimately about a world worth living in. Moreover, philosophy has always been understood in the Catholic tradition as a strong ally of theological reflection by bringing to light the philosophical underpinnings of certain theological developments, by clarifying the language of faith, and by articulating the fundamental structures of human existence that render possible an attitude such as faith.

IV. FACULTY ADMINISTRATION

Acting Dean: Chantal Beauvais

Vice Dean: Richard Feist

Secretary: Raymond Jahae O.M.I., L.Sc.Rel.(Utrecht) B.Th.(Louvain) Ph.D.(Th.)(Johannes Gutenberg Universität), Ph.D.(Ph.)(Grégorienne)

Faculty Council

The Faculty Council is composed of the following members:

for Saint Paul University: Chantal Beauvais, Richard Feist, Raymond Jahae, O.M.I., Aubin Deckeyser, Louis Perron, Gregory Walters;

for the University of Ottawa: Catherine Collobert

Assistant to the Dean: Mourad Mohand-Saïd

V. CIVIL UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

A. ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

1. Academic Calendar

The academic year is divided into three sessions consisting of approximately fifteen weeks each. The first session runs from the beginning of September to the third week of December; the second, from the beginning of January to the end of April; the third, from the beginning of May to mid-August. Examinations are given at the end of each session.

2. Admission and Registration

2.1 Admission to the Faculty and its Programs

All students registering for the first time (or registering toward another degree) must present an application for admission to the Registrar according to the regulations of Saint Paul University. This application will include the following information:

- Status requested. Applicants must indicate whether they want to register as:

Regular — takes courses for credit; works toward a degree or a diploma.

Special — takes courses for credit; does not work toward a degree or a diploma.

Auditors — takes courses but earns no credit.

- Program chosen:

Regular students must indicate the intended program.

Special students and auditors must seek admission to undergraduate studies.

The Admissions Committee of the Faculty will consider all applications in the order in which they are received and applicants will be informed of its decision.

2.1.1 Admission Requirements

A. Regular Student (registered in a program, and working toward the degree)

— Ontario Candidates

Completion of the Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD) or equivalent. A minimum of six (6) Grade 12 / 4U or 4M courses, including 4U English or français.

The minimum average is 70 %.

— Ontario College of Applied Arts and Sciences (CAAT)

The admission average from students having completed their CAAT is usually calculated using the results of all the courses required for the diploma of a two-year, or a three-year program.

The minimum average is 70 %.

Individuals having completed a three-year program, may receive advanced standing, up to a maximum of 30 credits, and advanced standing for up to 18 credits if they have completed a two-year program. Advanced standing will depend on the courses completed and the final mark received.

Note: When a student has completed less than two years of studies in a CAAT, the admission requirements for Ontario Secondary Schools will be used to determine admissibility.

— Atlantic and Western Provinces

Secondary School Diploma, with the prerequisites completed at the grade 12 level.

The overall admission average is usually calculated with the set of courses required for completing the final year of secondary school studies, including the prerequisite courses for the particular program of studies.

The minimum average is 70 %.

— Quebec Candidates

CEGEP

A minimum of twelve (12) CEGEP courses (excluding physical education courses), including français (601) or English (603).

The minimum average required is 70 %.

Individuals having completed 12 courses of general studies may be granted up to 15 credits of advanced standing.

Individuals having completed more than 12 courses of general studies may obtain advanced standing for up to one year of university studies or the equivalent. Advanced standing will depend on the courses completed, the final mark received as well as the chosen program of studies.

Secondary V

The university accepts a certain number of candidates from Secondary V, who have completed their secondary school studies with a minimum average of 85 %.

Quebec Secondary School Diploma with five (5) Secondary V courses, including English or français.

B. Mature Applicants

When the academic file does not meet the normal admission requirements of Regular Student Status, it is possible to gain admission into a program providing:

- Student has not been engaged in full-time studies for a period of two consecutive years
- Promise of academic success is evident

With the above conditions met, the individual:

- Will gain admission as a 'Regular Student' although considered on a period of academic probation. For students with a full course load, successful completion of courses after the first session is considered acceptable proof of academic success. For students following a part-time course load, academic success will be based on the successful completion of two 3-credit courses.

Mature applicants must submit:

- academic transcripts of all courses completed at the secondary and post-secondary levels.
- a curriculum vitae
- any other document requested by the administrative unit of the program.

N.B. Anyone wishing to register in the program should be proficient enough in the language in which it is offered to be able to follow lectures and participate in discussions.

C. Special Student (earns credits linked to courses, but not a degree)

Students must be admissible to university, and possess an academic file proving that the courses studied will benefit the student.

D. Auditors

Must possess an academic file proving that the courses to be studied will benefit the student.

2.2 Registration in Courses

After admission to the University and the Faculty (through the Registrar), students must register for courses through the Faculty Administration Office at the beginning of each session. No one will be allowed to take courses without being properly admitted and registered according to the regulations of Saint Paul University and those of the chosen faculty.

The course selection of all students (regular, special, auditor) must be approved each session by an official representative of the Faculty. The Faculty considers a student to be properly registered only when such approval has been granted. Students will be notified if their course selection is not approved.

2.3 Late Registration

Requests for admission which arrive between the end of the admission period for a given session and the end of registration in courses of the same session will be considered. Such admissions may include certain stipulations.

2.4 Level 1000 Courses

Only 42 credits in the 1000 level in a bachelor's program will be allotted.

2.5 Minimum number of credits to obtain at Saint Paul University

A minimum of 60 credits (30 credits in the chosen program) must be obtained at Saint Paul University for a bachelor's degree (120-credit program).

For the certificates and minors of 24 credits, a minimum of 12 credits must be obtained at Saint Paul University. The minimum credits for a certificate or a minor of 30 credits will be established at 15 credits.

2.6 Advanced Standing (Transfer of Credit)

Advanced standing can be granted for courses completed in another university institution, when such courses are deemed equivalent to those offered by the Faculty. Consideration of a request for advanced standing requires the submission of official transcripts as well as course descriptions taken from the calendar of the institution in question.

a. Certificate

For 24-credit certificates, advanced standing is limited to a maximum of 12 credits. For 30-credit certificates, advanced standing is limited to a maximum of 15 credits.

b. Baccalaureate

One year (30 credits) advanced standing may be granted to students fulfilling one of the following conditions:

- i. completion of first year of B.A. (Concentration) from Saint Paul University with a minimum cumulative average of 70 % (B);
- ii. successful completion of one year of university studies with a minimum cumulative average of 70 % (B);
- iii. completion of a DEC (General Studies) with a minimum cumulative average of 70 % (B);
- iv. completion of a program of studies which the Faculty deems equivalent.

Up to two years (60 credits) advanced standing may be granted to the student who holds a bachelor's degree in another discipline that is deemed to be relevant for the baccalaureate program in which the student is registered, with a minimum average of 70 %;

3. Withdrawal

3.1 Withdrawal from a Course or Change of Status

A student may withdraw from a course or become an auditor before completing 2/3 of the course. Anyone who withdraws from a course after completion of 2/3 of the course will receive the final mark INC, which is a failure.

3.2 Mandatory Withdrawal

Students who accumulate 18 failed credits must withdraw from the Faculty for at least one year. Those 18 credits do not include the credits of courses failed or passed when the student comes back to his or her studies.

Withdrawal of a program is also mandatory if the additional credits allotted do not increase the CGPA at the minimum required.

A student who is obligated to withdraw from a program of studies must stay out of this program for one academic year from the date of withdrawal. If the student re-applies, the conditions for the completion of the program are established by the officers of the Faculty.

Any student whose performance is deemed unsatisfactory may be placed on probation by the Faculty or be required to withdraw from a program or from the Faculty.

4. Programs of Study and Courses

4.1 Responsibilities of the Student

Students hold the primary responsibility for their own program of study. Among their responsibilities are the following:

- a. carefully planning their program of study, taking into account the availability of courses, time tabling, the years they have available for study, etc. (Regular students who desire assurance that their specific plan of study will lead without difficulty to the degree sought should submit their complete plan in writing to the Administration office for review.);

- b. registering properly in courses before the established deadlines;
- c. presenting in writing to the Administration office all requests for needed authorizations (deferments, withdrawals, etc.);
- d. remitting to the Administration office all documents concerning their program of studies for placement in their academic file;
- e. knowing the regulations governing their program of studies.

With regard to their courses students must:

- a. attend the lectures in all the courses of their program and must also participate in all class activities. A student who is shown to have been absent from more than 20 % of the lectures in a course will not be allowed to take the final examination.
- b. complete all assignments of a course before being allowed to take the final examination.

Incoming regular students (those working for credit and toward a degree or diploma) are strongly urged to meet with a consulting professor at the beginning of their program. This will give the student the opportunity to establish a more personal contact with the faculty and to raise and discuss questions concerning the nature and planning of their program. This service is also available to special students and auditors. Such a consultation is mandatory for students enrolled in Eastern Christian Studies programs.

4.2 Course Load and Assignments

A credit is a unit which enables the Faculty to assign a numerical value to the amount of work a student must do to meet the objectives of a course. One credit indicates that approximately 45 hours of work should be expected from the student.

A student normally registers for 15 credits per session. Any student who wishes to carry more than 15 credits must request the authorization from the Administration Office. The authorization will be granted by way of exception if the reasons put forward and the academic record of the student support it. During intensive sessions (spring, summer), a student may not take more than 6 credits.

In a given course the teaching and learning activities may include lectures, seminars, assigned readings, group discussions, written reports and other exercises, some of which demand a restricted number of participants. The Faculty reserves the right to limit class size when the teaching format or other exigencies so require.

The professor will communicate to the students during the first week of classes of each session the specific nature of the assignments upon which the final grade will be based, the dates when the assignments are due and the percentage of the final grade attributed to each assignment.

A student who, for a valid reason, is unable to complete all the requirements of a course within the established time-frame, should present a written request for a deferment to the Administration Office. If the Faculty grants a deferment, the student will be allowed to complete the requirements of the course in question. The period of deferment will not extend beyond the beginning of January for a summer course; beyond the end of April for a course taken during the Fall session; beyond September for a course taken during the Winter session.

If the requirements have not been fulfilled at the conclusion of the deferment period, the mark for the course will be F(INC), which is a failure. In the case that, having been granted a deferment, the mark received is E, the student has the right to a supplemental examination which must be taken during the following session.

4.3 Evaluations and Examinations

Each course normally includes a final examination. This final examination will be oral or written, as determined by the professor.

A written examination will be of two or three hours duration, an oral of 10 or 15 minutes. In light of the appeal procedure of the Faculty, students must always be given the opportunity to take a written final examination.

There will be additional evaluations within each course according to the various learning activities. Only those students who have successfully fulfilled the requirements of these various learning activities may take the final examination.

The final mark is a composite of the marks given for the final examination and the other learning activities according to the proportions determined by the professor and communicated to the students at the beginning of the course.

4.4 Passing Mark and Failure

For all courses the passing mark is D.

A student who does not achieve a passing grade in a compulsory course, even after a supplemental, must repeat the course successfully.

A student who does not achieve a passing in an optional course, even after a supplemental, may repeat the failed course or replace it by another optional course.

4.5 Supplemental Examination

A student who receives E as a final mark in a course has the right to a written supplemental examination which will be marked according to the same scale as regular examinations. When a supplemental is necessary, only the result of this examination is tabulated in the final mark. The Faculty assigns the examination date which will be, for summer courses, before the end of the following January; for fall courses, before the end of April; for winter courses, before the end of September.

In courses for which a term paper is one of the learning activities, the same paper cannot satisfy the requirements for two courses unless there has been a preliminary agreement between the student and the professors concerned. A copy of the agreement must be filed in the student's dossier.

4.6 Insufficient Average

In all undergraduate programs requiring 90 credits or more, it is possible for a student, in order to raise his or her mark or to solidify his or her knowledge, to take for a second time a certain number of courses (16 credits maximum) failed or passed. The following conditions are applied:

- a. All courses taken (the first and second time) appear on the student's transcript;
- b. The second grade obtained replaces the first one in the final CGPA. Account and in the programs requirements. (A failing grade may, therefore, replace a passing grade. If a failing grade is obtained in a mandatory course, the course must be followed a third time);
- c. When a course has been failed twice, only the second grade will be counted in the CGPA. A student who fails twice a mandatory course must withdraw from the program (an E followed by another failing grade at the supplemental examination will only be counted once);
- d. For a limited enrolment course, priority is given to students who have not yet followed or passed the course;
- e. It is forbidden to repeat a passed course that is a prerequisite to another passed course;

- f. The grade received in a course followed for the second time, it being superior or inferior to the grade received the first time, will not modify the annual grade point average — AGPA — (or the CGPA) for the year (the session) when the course was taken for the first time;
- g. It is not allowed to repeat a course that has already been passed if, by doing so, the number of allotted credits (16 credits of courses failed or passed) is exceeded;
- h. In the case of a student who is authorized to a supplemental examination and passes the examination, the credits associated with the specific course will not count in the 16 credits allotted for courses taken a second time;
- i. The results of all courses taken at the University of Ottawa or at Carleton University are added in the count of the CGPA, except for the first 16 credits redone (passed or failed) for which only the second grade will count in the CGPA.

5. Appeal of Failing Final Marks

The Faculty values and encourages a spirit of good will and collaboration among its students and professors. In this spirit, when contentious issues do arise, it trusts that both professors and students will make every effort among themselves or with the Director of the program concerned to resolve these matters.

Since the Faculty recognizes the seriousness of a failing final mark, it has adopted a formal procedure permitting students to appeal such marks in undergraduate courses.

The right to appeal a failing final mark implies:

- a. that the Faculty will not receive any appeal prior to the official notification of the final mark in any given course;
- b. that, in the case of an appeal of a failing final mark, only the written components (written assignments, exams, exercises) of the final mark can be the object of an appeal. Thus, students who opt for an oral examination forfeit the right to appeal for this examination. When the re-evaluation of written assignments leads to a revised grade for an assignment, this revised grade affects the final mark of the course in the same proportion as that originally established by the professor;
- c. that the Faculty recognizes the right of a student to see, on request, any written test, assignment, exercise, or examination after it has been graded;
- d. that the professor, when reporting grades, will report not only the final (total) mark but also the marks and weights of all the evaluated activities which constitute the final grade (tests, assignments, class participation, final examination, etc.);
- e. that all failing final grades may be the object of an appeal, including one received from a supplemental exam.

Procedures

- a. In the case of a failing final mark [E, F, F(INC)], a student may appeal to the Dean within four weeks of receiving the final mark.
- b. Appeals must be presented in a letter which clearly outlines the grounds of the appeal.
- c. A copy of the student's appeal shall be forwarded to the professor concerned who may submit written comments to the Dean.
- d. The Dean shall appoint two professors to re-evaluate the written assignments or examinations in question.
- e. The average of the marks awarded by the two professors is final.

- f. If the Dean is implicated in the appeal, the Vice-Dean will take the role given to the Dean in the appeals procedure.

Any student who feels that the above or any other appeals procedure was not carried out fairly or in proper and due form has the right to appeal to the Appeals Committee of the Senate of the University.

6. Fraud

A student found guilty of fraud, attempted fraud or complicity of fraud in any examination or academic work will be liable to one or several of the following sanctions:

- a. loss of all or part of the marks assignable to the course to which the examination or academic work is related;
- b. loss of the right to a supplemental examination;
- c. loss of credits attached to the course to which the examination or academic work is related;
- d. loss of all credits for the current term or year;
- e. expulsion from the Faculty;
- f. expulsion from the University;

Sanctions specified in paragraphs a. through e. above can be enforced only by the Faculty Council or a Committee established for this purpose. No sanction will be imposed before the submission of a preliminary report by a Committee of Inquiry.

The Committee of Inquiry is composed of three persons appointed by the Dean. This committee, prior to reporting to the Council or the Committee it has established for this purpose, must give the student an opportunity to be heard. The Council or Committee will, upon request, also hear the student.

Expulsion from the University is reserved to the Senate.

7. Receiving a second diploma at Saint Paul University

Students with a bachelor's degree have the possibility to obtain a second diploma at a superior level of education in the same program or a second bachelor's degree in a different discipline. To obtain a second diploma at Saint Paul University, one must:

- obtain a minimum of 30 credits, among which at least 15 credits at Saint Paul University, beyond the standard requirements of the first bachelor's degree received at Saint Paul University;
- uphold the requirements of the minor, major or honours to which the student is registered. Students with a bachelor's degree or a certificate from Saint Paul University have the possibility to obtain a second certificate in a different discipline. To obtain the certificate, the student must:
  - obtain a minimum of 15 credits at Saint Paul University beyond the requirements of the first diploma (bachelor's degree or certificate) granted by the University of Ottawa;
  - uphold the requirements of the certificate to which the student is registered.

N.B. A maximum of 12 credits from the 1000 level (in addition to the ones from the first diploma) will be allotted for a second diploma.

 Theology

Consult the Faculty of Theology Calendar for more details.

The Faculty of Human Science offers the following minors:

- Interreligious Dialogue
 Mission Studies
 Pastoral Studies

Consult the Faculty of Human Sciences Calendar for more details.

Electives (36 credits)

Courses may be chosen from any courses offered at Saint Paul University's Undergraduate Programs. Thirty elective credits may be taken at the University of Ottawa.

E. BACHELOR IN ETHICS

This four-year baccalaureate degree is made up of four blocks of courses that center around the acquisition of general and specific abilities: to communicate, to think, to partake in dialogue, and to judge and act.

Beyond academic training, this program is aimed towards the development of ethical reasoning and a comprehensive training of students. The program is characterized by a philosophy of education that centres on human and intellectual growth.

This is a 120-credit program, normally completed within four years of studies.

Diploma

Bachelor in Ethics, jointly conferred by Saint Paul University and the University of Ottawa.

Language of Instruction

The program is offered in French and in English.

Degree Requirements

To be granted the Bachelor in Ethics, the student must:

- have obtained all credits specified under program requirements (please note that at least 36 of these credits must be of level 3000, of which at least 24 must be in the honours discipline, among which at least 6 must be of level 4000);
- have a cumulative grade point average (CGPA) of at least 4.5 at the end of the program;
- have a graduating grade point average (GGPA) of at least 5.0 at the end of the program;
- have completed at least 60 credits among the above mentioned at Saint Paul University, at least 30 of which must be in the honours discipline;
- have made the request at the Registrar's Office.

Program Structure

Foundational courses: 15 credits

General education: 24 credits

Specialisation: 60 credits

Electives: 21 credits

Total: 120 credits

Program Requirements*Objective 1: Communicating (15 credits)

Those who work in the area of ethics must be able to communicate with others in order to express their own point of view, present reasonable arguments and formulate rational critiques of others' discourse. Therefore, it is necessary to acquire particular competencies in oral and written communication and in logical argumentation.

UO = Course offered at the University of Ottawa

Compulsory Courses:

- UO ENG 1100 Workshop in Essay Writing
 UO ENG 1120 Literature and Composition I: Prose Fiction
 UO PHI 1103 Fundamental Philosophical Questions

Six credits from:

- UO CMN 2135 Public Speaking
 UO ENG 1131 Effective Business English
 ISC 2126 Facilitation and Active Listening
 ISC 2136 Facilitation Skills I
 ISC 2138 Facilitation Skills II

Objective 2: Thinking (18 credits)

Any serious reflection in ethics requires a basic formation permitting one to understand the axiological presuppositions of a given discourse, to grasp the principle points made in it, and to be able to situate them in relation to current socio-cultural paradigms. It is generally recognized that the study of philosophy permits one to acquire such competencies.

History of philosophy (9 credits)*Compulsory Courses:

- PHI 2153 Christian Philosophers
 PHI 2155 Augustine or
 PHI 3107 Thomas Aquinas

and three credits from:

- UO PHI 2380 Greek Philosophy or the Birth of Philosophy

- PHI 1110 Elementary Logic
 PHI 2181 Human Knowledge
 PHI 2182 Human Existence
 PHI 3184 Philosophy of Religion
 PHI 3185 Aristotelian-Thomistic Metaphysics

Objective 3: Dialoguing (27 credits)

Those engaged in ethical reflection must show an openness to the world of values embraced by others. A formation in social and religious anthropology permits one to acquire this openness.

Six credits from:

- HUM 1103 Introduction to Group Dynamics
 HUM 1107 Religious Anthropology
 MIS 2100 Socio-cultural Anthropology
 MIS 3102 Faith, Religion and Culture

 MIS 2362 Dialogue with One of the World Religions: Islam, Buddhism, or Hinduism

Elective courses (21 credits)

Students will be able to widen their horizons by choosing 7 other courses among courses offered by Saint Paul University.

Objective 4: Judging and Acting (60 credits)

True ethical reflection rests on deliberation whose purpose is to permit one to choose the best possible course of action. Specialised courses in ethics will help students to acquire both a basic formation in the field and a more focussed formation in specific areas of ethics. This double formation aims at helping students acquire competencies that make it possible for them to grasp what is going on in ethical discussions and to carry out their own deliberations within a wider horizon of values.

Foundations (21 credits)*Compulsory Courses:

- PHI 2121 Texts in Ethics
 PHI 3140 Kant's Ethical Theory
 PHI 3183 Moral Philosophy (or UO PHI 2174 Ethics)
 UO PHI 4312 Problems in Contemporary Ethics
 UO PHI 3380 Aristotle or the Search for Happiness
 THO 2315 Ethics and the Human Person (or U.O. PHI 1102 Moral Reasoning)

Other courses that fit within the spirit of the program may be approved by the Faculty on a case-by-case basis. The Faculty could integrate ethics courses offered via teleconferencing by other universities. Please refer to the Faculty's web site.

Personal Reflection (6 credits)

Ethical deliberation should lead to fair and just action. Students will have the opportunity to practice the various competencies acquired. They will do this by participating in a seminar in which they will discuss case studies. At the end of the seminar, they will write a research paper of approximately 25 pages, in which they will analyse in depth a situation requiring an ethical judgement.

VI. ECCLESIASTICAL PROGRAMS

A. ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

Consult the Civil Undergraduate Programs, Academic Regulations, section V. A.

B. ECCLESIASTICAL BACCALAUREATE IN PHILOSOPHY (B.PH.) (90 CREDITS)

Context

The Ecclesiastical Baccalaureate in Philosophy aims to provide students with an understanding of the most classical philosophical questions. Philosophy has always been understood in the Catholic tradition as a strong ally of theological reflection by bringing to light the philosophical underpinnings of certain theological developments, by clarifying the language of faith, and by articulating the fundamental structures of human existence that render possible an attitude such as faith.

Duration of Program

The Apostolic Constitution Sapientiae Christiana suggests a three year program consisting of two years of philosophy in order that the student may be exposed to human sciences, both social and natural.

Diploma

Ecclesiastical Baccalaureate in Philosophy (B. Ph.)

Program Structure (90 credits comprised of 42 credits in Philosophy)

A. Foundational Courses (24 credits.): 6 cr. PHI

C. GRADUATE PROGRAMS

1. Licentiate in Philosophy (L.Ph.)

One must have an Ecclesiastical Baccalaureate in Philosophy (B.Ph.).

Oral examination lasting a minimum of one hour before a three-member jury.

Objective: To verify if the candidate possesses sufficient knowledge to teach philosophy in a seminary or college.

The student chooses 2 texts in each of the four sections from the list of authors and works approved by the Faculty. The student must be able to:

- situate the text in the author's work and in the historical context;
- submit the contents of the text and draw from it the main arguments;
- explain a short passage chosen by the examiners;
- discuss one or the other more important issues approached in the text;
- situate one's own position in relation to the author's, in other words define it and justify it rationally.

2. Doctorate in Philosophy (D.Ph.)

One must have a Licentiate in Philosophy (L.Ph.)

Oral examination lasting a minimum of one hour and a half before a three-member jury.

Objective: To verify if the candidate possesses sufficient knowledge to teach philosophy in a Catholic university.

The student chooses two texts in each of the four sections from the list of authors and works approved by the Faculty. The student must be able to:

- situate the text in the author's work and in the historical context;
- submit the contents of the text and draw from it the main arguments;
- explain a short passage chosen by the examiners;
- discuss one or the other more important issues approached in the text;
- situate one's own position in relation to the author's, in other words define it and justify it rationally;
- compare the author's position with the position of other authors mentioned in the approved list.
