

Family's Many Faces

International Interdisciplinary colloquium on the plurality of families

May 6-8, 2010

Call for Papers

Dear Colleagues,

The Sisters of Our Lady of the Cross Chair in Christian Family Studies, the Institut de Pastorale des Dominicains in Montréal, and Saint Paul University's Faculty of Human Sciences are pleased to invite you to an international, interdisciplinary, bilingual colloquium on the family, to be held on May 6 to 8, 2010.

You are invited to contribute to the success of this colloquium by giving a paper or workshop on the family – models, challenges, successes, setbacks, place and role in society and in the Church, its future, – and on how spirituality, theology and faith communities can respond to the needs of “plural” families, including a wide range of models and forms, in today's society.

Please consult the attached document for more information on the orientation of this colloquium.

Exchanging views and ideas, we are convinced, will help us to better understand families and to better walk with them on their journey.

Date of the colloquium: May 6-8, 2010

Location: Saint Paul University
223 Main Street, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada

Length of papers/workshops: Maximum of 40 minutes followed by 20 minutes of questions or interaction with participants

Please send your proposal by December 31, 2009, to:
